

Calling for GNSI Members Interested in Arranging Group Travel! If you have arranged group travel for students, research teams, even sports or family events—GNSI wants to hear from you.

Airlines offer advantages to group travel: here’s a few fairly common ones; a locked in rate per ticket, groups seated together, advanced check in, and a pre-boarding consultant at the airport. Some airlines, such as Qantas, allow a group to depart from various locations as long as your group arrives to the same destination and the group has 20 or more participants. Some airlines offer flexibility with itinerary changes, but fees may apply.

If you have experience leading a travel group, and are planning to attend the 2019 Conference in Brisbane, Australia, June 29-July 6, 2019—contact Robin Carlson, robinleecarlson@gmail.com by October 15, 2018.
